

Henry Ford's Model T was the first car many families could afford. He made it only in black for years because the paint dried faster on the assembly line!